ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment embarked on the journey of developing this National Action Plan on Women, Peace, and Security in 2019. This was initiated with the generous help of the Government of Japan and the technical support of UN Women, Sri Lanka. As a signatory to the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women, and in keeping with its international commitment in accordance with the UN Security Council’s Resolutions on Women, Peace and Security 1325, the Government of Sri Lanka is committed to empowering women in every aspect of private and public life and ensure their peace and security in all settings. These obligations of the Government of Sri Lanka also take into consideration the socio-political history of the island which was damaged by a near three-decade armed conflict. It is against this backdrop that the Government of Sri Lanka is taking steps to implement this National Action Plan on Women, Peace, and Security.

I am also grateful to former Secretaries of State Ministry of Education Reforms, Open Universities & Distance Learning Promotion, State Ministry of Estate Housing & Community Infrastructure, State Ministry of Home Affairs, State Ministry of Indigenous Medicine Promotion, Rural and Ayurvedic Hospitals Development and Community Health, State Ministry of National Security and Disaster Management, State Ministry of Primary Health Care, Epidemics and COVID Disease Control, State Ministry of Provincial Councils and Local Government Affairs, State Ministry of Samurdhi, Household Economy, Micro Finance, Self-Employment and Business Development, and State Ministry of Skills Development, Vocational Education, Research and Innovation for the immense support given to make this national initiative a success.

Furthermore, I am thankful to the four previous Secretaries; Mrs. Darshana Senanayake, Secretary of the Ministry of Women, and Child Affairs and Development of Dry Zones; Mrs. A.S.M.S. Mahanama, Secretary of the Ministry of Women and Child Affairs and Social Security; Mrs. K.M.S.D. Jayasekera, State Secretary of State Ministry of Women and Child Development, Pre-schools and Primary Education, School Infrastructure and Education Services; and Mr. K.H.D.W.M.N.B. Hapuhinne,
Secretary of the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment, under whose guidance the development of this National Action Plan was carried out.

Similarly, I express my heartfelt gratitude to all those who attended the public consultation sessions held in all nine provinces of Sri Lanka to gather the primary data necessary for the development of activities and indicators for this National Action Plan. Without them, this National Action Plan would not have been a possibility.

I also express my gratitude to all representatives of Civil Society Organisations, Community Based Organisations, Non-Governmental Organisations, Non-Governmental Organisations, International Non-Governmental Organisations, UN Partner Organisations, Private Institutions and representatives of all other entities that attended Provincial Consultation Sessions as well as the Validation Sessions. I value the suggestions and feedback received which have enriched the National Action Plan. Moreover, I wish to express my deep gratitude to all non-state entities that have agreed to partner with the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment for facilitating the implementation of this National Action Plan. Their generosity is greatly valued and appreciated.

I am thankful to all staff members of the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment who contributed to the development of this National Action Plan through their comments, suggestions. I appreciate their continued dedication and commitment.

I also like to express my gratitude to the Government of Japan for providing the financial support to develop and finalise this National Action Plan.

Lastly, I appreciate the staff of UN Women Sri Lanka – past and present - and the consultants for their technical assistance, and for coordinating the process of developing the National Action Plan on Women, Peace, and Security from its inception to its finalisation.

As the ministry that is mandated to ensure women’s empowerment and their social protection, it is our fervent hope that this National Action Plan becomes the first step in further advancing the Women, Peace, and Security priorities in Sri Lanka.

INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND
United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325

On 31 October 2000, the United Nations Security Council adopted its landmark resolution on Women, Peace and Security (WPS). This enabled the world to take into cognizance the issues women face during and after conflict contexts. At the same time, it recognized the importance of women’s roles in peace and security. Thus, the Resolution also encourages States to adopt measures to involve women in decision-making and enhance women’s participation at conflict resolution mechanisms.

The WPS global agenda is premised on four pillars that were identified under United Nations Security Council Resolution (UNSCR) 1325. The four pillars are:

1. Participation
2. Protection
3. Prevention
4. Relief and recovery

In addition to the UNSCR 1325, there are nine supporting resolutions that further the WPS agenda. They are:

1. UNSCR 1820
2. UNSCR 1888
3. UNSCR 1889
4. UNSCR 1960
5. UNSCR 2106
6. UNSCR 2122
7. UNSCR 2242
8. UNSCR 2467
9. UNSCR 2493

These UNSCRs - supported by the Convention for the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) and the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action - provide a foundational framework that can be utilized in formulating the National Action Plan (NAP) on WPS for Sri Lanka. Furthermore, the National Policy Framework of the Government of Sri Lanka (GoSL) has also laid the basic framework that enables the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment to work specifically on impacts of conflicts on women through the formulation of a specific NAP.

Even though armed conflict has come to an end, through the policies embedded in the national policy framework, the GoSL has indicated its continuing commitment to address conflict-related grievances of Sri Lanka.

In preparation of this NAP, guidance has been drawn from specific issues highlighted by UNSCR 1325. This Resolution recognizes that:

particularly women and children, account for the vast majority of those adversely affected by civil conflict, including as refugees and internally displaced persons, and increasingly are targeted by combatants and armed elements, and recognizing the consequent impact this has on durable peace and reconciliation.
It also reaffirms:

the important role of women in the prevention and resolution of conflicts and in peace building and stressing the importance of their equal participation and full involvement in all efforts for the maintenance and promotion of peace, and security, and the need to increase their role in decision-making with regard to conflict prevention and resolution.

To achieve these ends, the Resolution seeks to promote gender equality and equal participation and full involvement of women in all measures associated with the maintenance and promotion of peace and security. Furthermore, it reaffirms “the need to implement fully international humanitarian and human rights law that protects the rights of women and girls during and after conflicts”. States all over the world have been encouraged to recognize these needs and seek to mainstream gender into all activities associated with peace and security; and establish effective institutional, social, policy, and legal arrangements to guarantee women’s full protection and involvement in respect of promotion of peace and security. It is within this framework that the National Action Plan on Women, Peace and Security for Sri Lanka has been formulated.

Requisites for the Formulation of the National Action Plan on Women, Peace and Security

Sri Lanka has been a party to the CEDAW since 1981. Both CEDAW and UNSCR 1325 are useful tools in moving the agenda for gender equality forward and for preventing violence against women, especially in times of conflict and in societies that have been ravaged by conflict.

In the past fifty years, Sri Lanka has experienced a protracted civil conflict that was waged between the GoSL and the Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE), as well as other insurgencies and riots, all of which have disproportionately impacted the lives of women. As a result of these conflicts, large numbers of women have become female heads of households, faced displacement, lost avenues of sustainable income generation, faced increased poverty, suffered sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV) or conflict-related sexual violence (CRSV) and other forms of violence and injustice that particularly affect women. These, in turn, have posed challenges to the State in preventing violence against women, promoting women’s protection, promoting the increased participation of women in decision-making positions, and the achievement of full gender equality as enshrined in Article 12 of the Constitution of Sri Lanka that recognises equality as a fundamental right. This continuing impact of conflict on women’s lived realities necessitates the adoption of a NAP on WPS in this juncture of Sri Lanka’s history.
Due to the armed conflict and other conflict-related circumstances in Sri Lanka, women have faced, inter alia, the following issues:

- becoming war widows
- conflict-related disabilities suffered by loved ones or women themselves
- death and disappearances of loved ones
- experiences of trauma and re-traumatization
- exploitation (sexual and otherwise)
- issues related to access to justice
- structural inequalities
- gender-based discrimination
- gender blind, gender neutral or gender insensitive laws and policies
- inadequacies in protection mechanisms and such protection mechanisms being founded on the premise that women are a ‘vulnerable’ group as opposed to as a segment of society that has faced such vulnerabilities due to social inequalities
- increased poverty
- intersectional vulnerabilities founded on gender, race, religion, caste, social status, economic status, and educational status
- lack of cohesive state, provincial, and community level policies targeted at effectively preventing conflicts
- lack of opportunities for political participation and representation
- lack of socially cohesive policies
- lack of support structures
- lack of sustainable income generation methods
- lack or absence of economic support
- non-cohesive relief and recovery processes
- increase in female-headed households (FHH)
- SGBV or CRSV

The GoSL is committed to creating a disciplined and just society and a prosperous nation. It is within this general backdrop that the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment has undertaken the task of developing an actionable framework for Women, Peace and Security.
CONTEXT OF THE NATIONAL ACTION PLAN

Narrative on the Armed Conflict of Sri Lanka and How it Impacted Women

Between 1983 and 2009, Sri Lanka grappled with a protracted armed conflict between State armed forces and LTTE combatants that left it economically, socially, politically, and ethnically ravaged. It resulted in large-scale loss of lives, conflict-related disappearances, civilian casualties, conflict-related disabilities, and pervasive destruction of property and environment. Despite the end of the armed conflict over a decade ago, its impact continues to date.

The Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment intends to contribute to redressing past harms and creating a conducive environment for gender equality, lasting peace, and the security of women. This commitment underpins the specific focus of the NAP on WPS on the impact of armed conflict on women, which is uniquely different from the scopes of other National Action Plans on the rights, protection, and empowerment of women.

Women’s experiences in relation to conflict are different from those of men. The impact of conflict on women is nuanced and heightened by societal standards and perceptions that continue to render women vulnerable, and obstruct women’s active involvement in decision-making and governance. These varied impacts have further narrowed the role of women in society. It is necessary to take cognizance of such social transformations if laws and policies are to effectively address the circumstances to which they intend to respond.

The Constitution of Sri Lanka, by virtue of Article 12(4) provides that the State may make “special provision” through “law, subordinate legislation or executive action for the advancement of women, children or disabled persons”. This allows for the adoption of specific interventions for women’s advancement through the NAP on WPS.

Affirmative Actions Taken by the Government of Sri Lanka to Ensure Women’s Safety and Participation in Peace-building

The GoSL has instituted multiple comprehensive measures to ensure the rights, protection, and empowerment of women.
At grassroots levels, Women Development Officers (WDOs), Counseling Officers, Women Development Field Assistants, Counseling Assistants at the district and divisional level, Child Rights Promotion Officers, Early Childhood Development Assistants, Child Protection and Psychosocial Officers have been appointed to ensure that the interests of women and children are protected. These officers undergo training on technical areas as well as gender, to ensure that they fulfill their roles with gender sensitivity.

Parallelly, the GoSL has established many initiatives at grassroots levels to strengthen the leadership skills and financial literacy of women as well as their full participation in society. At present, 25 District Women Federations 334 Divisional Women Federations and 12500 Women Action Societies operate under the Women’s Bureau to implement these initiatives. The Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment has further allocated funds to carry out programs targeting the development of skills and the economic empowerment of women in women action societies.

Furthermore, in 2014, the GoSL established Women and Children’s Development Units at District and Divisional Secretariats, strengthening collaboration between different officers. By doing so, the GoSL has affirmatively prevented duplication of work and facilitated coordination between different officials as well as entities. This unit was further strengthened in 2015. These units also house an information collection as well as a counselling centre.

At the ministerial level, subsequent to obtaining cabinet approval to establish Gender Focal Points in 2013, such focal points have been established at all relevant ministries. These focal points work on promoting gender mainstreaming policies and practices to eliminate discrimination against women and girls. They also seek to maintain gender balance and to formulate programmes, systems, and measures to minimise the occurrence of gender-based violence.\footnote{Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment, Establishment of Gender Mainstreaming Programmes at Ministerial Level. Available at: https://tbinternet.ohchr.org/Treaties/CEDAW/Shared%20Documents/LKA/INT_CEDAW_RLI_LKA_26729_E.pdf last accessed on 19th of February 2021.}

The GoSL has particularly given significant attention to empowering women affected by war. For example, it established a National Center on 13th November 2015 in Karachchi Divisional Secretariat in Kilinochchi District with the key objective of introducing a special system of protection for women who were widowed as a result of the armed conflict. This Centre also seeks to support the dependents of such women. The government is committed to addressing the gaps in the Centre while also working to further strengthen it to be an entity that is capacitated to provide protection to and facilitate the welfare of the women who access it.

Mechanisms set up as part of the transitional justice process have also been proactively gender responsive. For example, the Policy and Guidelines of the Office for Reparations (2021) make specific reference to the needs and vulnerabilities of women affected by conflict and recommends the prioritisation of such women in granting reparations.

As a step towards eliminating gender-based violence and making state institutions gender-sensitive and accessible, the GoSL established the Children and Women’s Bureau of the Sri Lankan Police in almost all police stations throughout the country in 2015.\footnote{Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment, Performance Report 2015. Available at: https://www.parliament.lk/uploads/documents/paperspresented/performance-report-ministry-of-women-child-affairs-2015.pdf last accessed on 19th of February 2021.} This is also tasked with raising awareness among schools and state institutions with a view to addressing, preventing, and eliminating gender-based violence at all levels of society. It is primarily staffed by trained female police officers.\footnote{See Sri Lanka Police Website on https://www.police.lk/index.php/police-history last accessed on 19th of February 2021.} This has allowed women to access police stations with increased ease and trust. Furthermore, the GoSL has adopted steps to train police officers on gender sensitivity in dealing with cases of sexual and gender-based violence. As an integral component of such training, at present, a training module on the Prevention of Domestic Violence Act is being prepared with a focus on gender. It seeks to clarify the role of police officers and provide guidance on dealing with cases of domestic violence.\footnote{Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment, Pre-Schools & Primary Education, School Infrastructure & Education Services. Available at: http://www.childwomenmin.gov.lk/institutes/national-committee-women/programs last accessed on 19th of February 2021.}
The GoSL has also taken steps to increase women’s participation in public and national life including in dispute resolution mechanisms. One of GoSL’s milestone achievements in this regard was the enactment of the Local Authorities Elections (Amendment) Act No. 1 of 2016 and 2017, to increase women’s representation in local government, in keeping with the policy goal of increasing women’s representation at local authorities to a minimum of 25%. The National Committee on Women (NCW) has also worked to increase women’s capacity to engage in politics. For example, in 2016, a certificate course was launched for potential women candidates in collaboration with University of Peradeniya and made available in both Sinhala and Tamil.11

The GoSL has also implemented policies and activities to increase the number of women mediators. In 2011, an evaluation by the GoSL found that women made up only 14% of mediation boards.12 By 2016, this had increased to 20%, signaling a gradual increase in women’s involvement in mediation mechanisms.13

These are few of the key affirmative measures that have been adopted by the GoSL to advance the Women, Peace and Security agenda within Sri Lanka. Through this NAP on WPS and its implementation, the GoSL aspires to further strengthen such interventions with the aspiration of advancing the lives of Sri Lankan women, contributing to conflict resolution, and building sustainable peace.

OBJECTIVES OF THE NATIONAL ACTION PLAN

The NAP on WPS - premised on UNSCR 1325 - is expected to enable the achievement of the objectives below, through the implementation of activities detailed in the results framework:

• to increase the meaningful participation of women in all aspects of national life, including the maintenance of peace and security
• to protect women’s safety and wellbeing by addressing their needs, priorities and rights during and after conflict, as well as other emergency situations such as disasters and pandemics
• to build and strengthen the capacities of communities and government institutions to promote social cohesion and prevent violence, terrorism, and crimes
• to facilitate the relief and recovery of women and girl children affected by conflict contexts
• to contribute towards achieving gender equality and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by ensuring inclusive, responsive, participatory, and representative decision making at all levels

Existing national action plans and their gaps

There are several National Action Plans (NAPs) and Policies that are contemporarily applicable to Sri Lanka. However, these are focused on other thematic concerns, and do not particularly focus on WPS. As such, they do not provide for the strategic interventions proposed by this NAP. In limited circumstances where existing policies and action plans do refer to WPS concerns, the reference remains at a surface level which fails to address deep rooted WPS issues. Furthermore, some of the policies and action plans that may have had a direct bearing on WPS have either expired or remain at draft stage, having never been implemented.

The gaps of the contemporarily applicable NAPs and policies are concisely explored below, in justification of the introduction of the NAP on WPS:

1. Policy Framework and National Plan of Action to Address Sexual and Gender-Based Violence in Sri Lanka 2016 – 2020

While this NAP has been formulated corresponding to normative frameworks and is comprehensive towards the prevention of SGBV in ordinary contexts, it does not deal specifically with CRSV. The Secretary General’s Report on Conflict-Related Sexual Violence recognizes that CRSV ought to be considered as a separate offence and be interpreted in a comprehensive manner.

This NAP, though well-formed and comprehensive, does not capture the entire gamut of the WPS agenda as found in the framework of UNSCR 1325. The NAP does not identify the specific challenges that are faced by women who have experienced conflict. For instance, it does not cover issues such as early and underage marriages prevalent in former war-affected areas, CRSV such as sexual bribery that has been reported by FHH or military widows who attempt to access services, difficulties faced by female-heads of households with spouses with disabilities, and conflict-related disabilities suffered by women and girl children.

Although this NAP refers to the significance of women’s participation in decision-making, its extent and scope is lower than that envisioned under the WPS agenda of the UNSCR 1325, where such participation is deemed significant and essential. These nuances have been incorporated into the present NAP on WPS.

Additionally, there are gaps in the monitoring and evaluation framework of the National Action Plan for the Protection and Promotion of Human Rights. This has resulted in many of its activities being unachieved or underachieved. This NAP seeks to amend this through a strong monitoring and evaluation framework which measures outputs, outcomes, as well as overarching goals. It is hoped that following such monitoring and evaluation, the present NAP on WPS will continue to be strengthened in light of the realities discovered in the implementation of this NAP.

3. National Action Plan on Female Headed Households (draft)

This action plan, though comprising of positive elements, has not been adopted or implemented. It is therefore suggested within this NAP on WPS to implement the NAP on FHH after amending it to reflect existing concerns.

This NAP remains in draft stage. The NAP on WPS addresses concerns of girl children from a WPS perspective to fill the lacuna created by the absence of an implemented NAP on children.

The NAP on Open Government Partnership (OGP) is comprehensive and is built around the values of:
• Transparency
• Accountability
• Public participation
• Technology and innovation for openness and accountability

Measures that are relevant to WPS which have been covered under the OGP have not been replicated in this NAP on WPS. However, it is noted that the scope and extent of the NAP on OGP is specific and does not extend to cover the WPS agenda.

The NAP on OGP is to create a Government – Civil Society Coordination Model. The same model has been reflected in this NAP on WPS, to support the Government in its implementation of the NAP on WPS. While the GoSL will bear the primary responsibility for the implementation of the NAP on WPS, where necessary, expert advice, aid, and other support will be drawn from members of Civil Society Organizations who have amassed experience in working on the issues identified by the NAP.

The NAP on OGP mentions the names of individual officers responsible for implementing the activities contained therein. However, during the draft stages of the NAP on WPS, it was recognised that the responsibility should be institutionalized and assigned to designations rather than individuals, to ensure that personnel turnover does not disrupt the implementation of the NAP. This has been reflected in the framework of the NAP on WPS.

This NAP is targeted at combating bribery and corruption in Sri Lanka, but has not yet incorporated sexual violence as a possible mechanism of bribery. In 2019, the Commission to Investigate Allegations of Bribery or Corruption published a handbook suggesting policies to be implemented by legislative amendments. This included the proposal that “sexual bribery” should be added as a form of “gratification” into the Bribery Act. However, no legislative amendment to this effect has been passed, and this NAP on WPS therefore proposes an intervention in this respect.
At the very outset, Ministry of Women, and Child Affairs and Development of Dry Zones, understood that the engagement and support of all relevant ministries and the sensitization of the officers therein was necessary to ensure the effective implementation of the NAP on WPS. Thus, on 16 September 2019, the team of consultants, along with the then Secretary of the Ministry of Women and Child Affairs and Development of Dry Zones met with representatives of key ministries.

During this programme, the ministries were briefed on contextual information pertaining to the formulation of the NAP on WPS, the envisioned scope of the NAP as well as the methodology chosen for the formulation of the NAP. This was well received, and the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment was able to garner the interest and support of the other relevant ministries for the NAP on WPS.

From the outset, it was determined that the ownership of the NAP on WPS should extend beyond the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment to other ministries, government entities, non-government entities, and the general populace of Sri Lanka. It was also determined that the NAP would reflect ground realities of Sri Lankan women, with particular attention to those impacted by conflict. To this end, provincial consultative dialogues were conducted in all nine provinces of Sri Lanka. These provincial consultations convened stakeholders from all twenty-five administrative districts of Sri Lanka.14

These stakeholders included:

1. State officials working at the village, divisional, district, and provincial levels
2. Representatives of civil society organizations (CSOs), Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs), International Non-Governmental Organizations (INGOs), and Community Based Organizations (CBOs)
3. Victim survivors of conflict, military widows, FHHs, women with disabilities, survivors of sexual and gender-based violence, ex-combatants of the LTTE, women working in the estate sector or fisheries, women providing care for partners and/or children with disabilities.

14 See Annexure 1 for the Schedule of Consultations that were carried out for the formulation of the NAP.
The methodology of the provincial consultative dialogues aimed to enable coordination between GoSL and CSOs. To ensure that the data gathered was clear and distinct, the consultations were held separately for State officials and representatives of CSOs. The issues raised by each group were then shared with the other at the consultations, to build consensus between the GoSL and CSOs towards the collaborative implementation of the NAP. Many of the issues identified in the NAP on WPS and the actions proposed to address them were drawn from the valuable sharing of ideas that was facilitated during the provincial consultations. During this process, specific CSOs which were experienced in dealing with selected aspects of WPS were further consulted on their willingness to work with the State on implementing corresponding sections of the NAP, to which the response was largely favorable.

At the consultations, it was highlighted that effective coordination between State entities and the enhancement of inter-agency cooperation would not only lead to effective collaboration between State entities to achieve common goals, but that it would also reduce the duplication of tasks by state entities. This in turn, would lead to decreased costs around implementing various activities. The participants were appreciative of the efforts of the GoSL to consider diverse views in formulating the NAP on WPS. The consultations also revealed the existing gaps relating to the WPS agenda which need to be addressed, and these have been translated into actionable tasks in this NAP.

Strategic Focus and Thematic Priorities

Sri Lanka has experienced a protracted armed conflict, as well as insurgencies, riots, ethno-religious violence, and terrorist attacks in the past. Therefore, themes pertaining to national security, territorial integrity, sovereignty, and individual autonomy have always been featured in Sri Lankan discourse. These discourses have further increased subsequent to the Easter Sunday attacks in 2019. The strategic focus of the NAP is to acknowledge and address how these issues pertain to women, in accordance with Sri Lanka’s international obligations, domestic laws, as well as the National Policy Framework of the government.

The participation and empowerment of women is a key step in preventing instability and threats to national security from rendering women vulnerable to violence and harassment. During the provincial consultations, some of the stakeholders contended that gender insensitive security checks which were carried out subsequent to the Easter Sunday terror attacks may have had a discriminatory and disproportionate impact on women. Another core issue which was highlighted was the lack of processes to facilitate the effective participation of women in building and maintaining peace and security. It was evident that apart from the lacunas that exist in local government and the provincial, and national level engagement of women, such lacunas are also deep rooted at grassroots levels of society. While gender was a core factor in the formulation of the NAP on WPS, other factors affecting the WPS agenda in Sri Lanka were also considered. Some of these other core factors were age, socio-economic background, ethnic/racial/religious affiliations, gender identity, sexual orientation, geographic location, family support or lack thereof level of education, and status of disability.

The GoSL has also taken cognizance of the lacunas in parallel NAPs and policies pertaining to Sri Lanka, and determined to address the same through the NAP on WPS. A key part of this has been the identification of responsible authorities to carry out the activities identified in the NAP. This has been done in accordance with the mandates and terms of reference which regulate the functions of the relevant authorities, to prevent the necessity for new recruitments or overburdening of officials. The GoSL recognises that the lack of inclusion or effective participation of women in peace, reconciliation and conflict-prevention mechanisms weaken the legitimacy and structures of those mechanisms. The GoSL is thus of the opinion that the participation of women is vital to the effectiveness of peace and security policies and strategies of the State.

Relevance of Commitments to Women, Peace and Security

The preamble of the UNSCR 1325 affirms that there is a “need to implement fully international humanitarian and human rights law that protects the rights of women and girls during and after conflicts”. Article 2 of CEDAW also requires State parties to:

- embody the principle of equality of men and women
- ensure through law and other appropriate means, the practical realisation of equality
- adopt appropriate legislative and other measures prohibiting all discrimination against women
- take all appropriate measures including legislation, to modify or abolish existing laws, regulations, customs and practices which constitute discrimination against women

The UNSCR 1325 also recognises that “an understanding of the impact of armed conflict on women and girls, [and] effective institutional arrangements to guarantee their protection and full participation in the peace process can significantly contribute to the maintenance and promotion of international peace and security”. Furthermore, the resolution states that there is a “need to consolidate data on the impact of armed conflict on women and girls”. It is within these broad normative frameworks that the GoSL has sought to formulate the NAP on WPS. However, it was decided during the consultation process that the scope of WPS would not be restricted to the armed conflict and other conflict contexts that have been experienced by Sri Lanka, and that the framework of the NAP would encapsulate WPS as broadly as possible, taking into cognizance the many concerns which threaten women’s peace and security in Sri Lanka.
The preamble of the UNSCR 1325 also highlights the significance of women’s involvement in peace building, conflict prevention and conflict resolution. It states that the Resolution reaffirms

“The important role of women in the prevention and resolution of conflicts and in peace-building, and stressing the importance of their equal participation and full involvement in all efforts for the maintenance and promotion of peace and security, and the need to increase their role in decision-making with regard to conflict prevention and resolution.”

Furthermore, the Resolution recognises that an understanding of the impact of armed conflict on women and girls and guaranteeing their protection and full participation in the peace process can contribute to the maintenance and promotion of international peace and security. While the preamble provision has been drafted in keeping with the mandate of the United Nations Security Council to maintain and promote international peace and security, the GoSL intends to implement this segment of the NAP with a view to ensuring the full participation of women in the peace and reconciliation process in Sri Lanka as the State strives to address past grievances and move towards reconciling a deeply divided society.

The Resolution further recognizes that there are “consequential impacts” caused by being displaced and by being a refugee and that these factors can impact durable peace and reconciliation. Further, by virtue of Clause 12 of the Resolution, State parties are called on to “respect the civilian and humanitarian character of refugee camps and settlements, and to take into account the particular needs of women and girls, including in their design...”.

Additionally, the State’s responsibilities pertaining to those who lived in Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs) and refugee camps during various time frames continue in the aftermath of the conflict as well. These broader aspects of UNSCR 1325 continue to be relevant to the commitments that have been identified under the NAP on WPS.

During the context of the armed conflict, as well as during various natural disasters, Sri Lanka has experienced the internal displacement of segments of its populace. This is another aspect that has been sought to be addressed within this NAP especially because the broader debates pertaining to the WPS agenda recognize the integral nexus between WPS and natural disasters. For instance, the Global Study on UNSCR 1325 issued in 2015 states:

“Increasingly, natural disaster leading to emergencies and humanitarian crises have a complex relationship with conflict and gender inequality. Lack of access to information and resources, entrenched gender stereotypes and inequalities and cultural restrictions make women and girls among the most susceptible to natural disasters – particularly in conflict-affected settings. For example, the tsunami that struck conflict –ravaged Sri Lanka in 2004 killed nearly one in five displaced women, more than twice the mortality rate of displaced men.”

Taking this nexus into account, this National Action Plan also seeks to make interventions concerning women and girls who are impacted by natural disasters.

The preamble of the UNSCR 1325 states that there is a “need to consolidate data on the impact of armed conflict on women and girls”. Thus, the GoSL is of the opinion that the NAP on WPS should specifically cater to women who have been impacted by the conflict through widowhood or their associations – familial or organizational – with combatants and combatancy. The extended reach of the NAP to also cover FHHs that have not directly been affected by the conflict was done in recognition of the overarching impacts of armed conflict which create indirect impacts as well. The main target of this NAP, therefore, is to guarantee the full protection and participation of women in matters related to peace and security.

At the drafting stage of the NAP on WPS, the views, grievances, and concerns that were expressed at the consultations stage were significant. The process of consulting with different segments of society ensured the incorporation of intersectional concerns of Sri Lankan women at grassroots levels. The GoSL wishes to fulfill its international obligations at this juncture, by adopting a NAP on WPS that directly responds to these concerns. It is in keeping with these main aspects of the UNSCR 1325, that the WPS commitments have been formulated and incorporated into this NAP.

Key Concerns Addressed

Within this NAP, several key concerns have been addressed in a manner that covers the WPS agenda. These thematic areas are explained below:

1. Legal, policy, and institutional reforms

   Such reforms are encouraged by the WPS Agenda of Resolution 1325. The specific interventions under this thematic area are proposed in the NAP in accordance with the findings that were made at Provincial Consultations. Within this, the GoSL intends – among others - to:

   - amend obsolete legal procedures and ordinances to ensure that the country’s legal system aligns well with international laws
   - strengthen the arbitration process to settle civil disputes at Mediation Boards instead of being taken to the courts of law
   - provide training on law enforcement procedures and mechanisms to relevant personnel

   In the NAP on WPS, these have been framed through a gender lens to ensure that women’s empowerment is achieved through the activities and goals specified herein.
2. Impact of displacement experienced by women
   One of the key issues faced by women who have been displaced relates to lack of proper housing and accommodation. In the preparation of this NAP, this has been seriously considered and other associated aspects have been added to make the lives of displaced women more meaningful. Furthermore, the GoSL is committed to uplifting the economic standards and livelihoods of the people therein, including through the provision of housing for families affected by the armed conflict. This has also been considered in shaping the activities and interventions of the NAP that deal with the impact of displacement which also remains a core theme of Resolution 1325.

3. Addressing concerns of military and Police widows, ex-combatants and female-headed households
   The GoSL is committed to ensuring national security without compromising the democratic space available to Sri Lankans. It is within this approach that it attempts to carry out its responsibilities concerning all those who have been affected by armed conflict in any manner. This segment will cover the needs of military widows, ex-combatants, and female heads of households in relation to the Women, Peace, and Security Agenda within this general approach.

   Therefore, within this thematic segment, the NAP on WPS focuses on catering to the specific concerns of military widows, women ex-combatants as well as other FHHs. The widening of policies to benefit as many women as possible to ensure their peace and security is an objective of Resolution 1325, and has therefore been reflected in this NAP on WPS.

4. Women’s protection and security
   The GoSL has recognised a strategy for ensuring safety of women as a key priority for national security. The thematic segment of the NAP on WPS which concentrates on women’s protection and security has been framed in accordance with this commitment of the GoSL. The NAP on WPS focuses on various aspects of protection of women and children which have in turn been further strengthened through the NAP on WPS, in accordance with women’s concerns which emerged during the consultations.

   The NAP on WPS aims to complement this process by recognising the needs of women and girl children with disabilities whether or not the disability has arisen in relation to a conflict context. This wider recognition is warranted by how disability exposes women and children to socially constructed vulnerabilities. The NAP on WPS recognizes that disability exposes women and girls to social, structural, institutional, and intersectional violence which threaten women’s peace and security, and seeks to cater to their needs accordingly. One of the key concerns raised by women at the consultations was the threat to security due to the lack of childcare facilities and flexible working arrangements.
In line with this, the NAP on WPS has developed specific activities with identifiable goals, and monitoring mechanisms that will enable the achievement of the broader goals.

5. Economic empowerment of women

During the consultations, it was evident that women from all parts of Sri Lanka were facing economic issues which were exacerbated by unregulated lending practices, largely by micro financing institutions. The NAP on WPS seeks to address this issue. This intervention is backed by the GoSL’s focus on the economic and social contribution of women, and the need to support women entrepreneurs. To achieve this end, the NAP on WPS has designed interventions and activities which would be monitored and evaluated by various government entities to ensure that women are aided appropriately to manage their borrowing practices and become successful entrepreneurs thereby ensuring their economic safety and security.

6. Promoting Women's participation in peacebuilding, conflict prevention, conflict resolution, decision making and politics

The GoSL is committed to increase the participation of women and youth in political decision-making. This has been adopted within the NAP on WPS with a broadened and gendered focus, targeting the increase of women’s participation in decision-making at all levels of governance in Sri Lanka. This is further supported by the political inclusivity and gender sensitivity promoted by Resolution 1325. The NAP WPS focuses on strengthening people-centric mediation boards at Grama Niladhari Division which include women’s representation. The NAP on WPS aligns with this commitment through gendered lens, in compliance with domestic and international obligations of Sri Lanka.
THEMATIC PRIORITY 01:

LEGAL, POLICY AND INSTITUTIONAL REFORMS

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES:

1. Amending existing legislative enactments to be gender-sensitive.
2. Revising existing practices of institutions to promote women’s participation.
3. Increasing State involvement to provide services to women at the grassroots levels.
4. Increasing gender sensitivity and language parity in State institutions.
5. Sensitising State officials to gendered concerns related to women.
6. Raising awareness of the women at the grassroots levels of available State services and how best to access them.

¹⁶ This can be done through increased resource allocation, increased recruitment of language teacher, guidelines on teaching second languages and training teachers on the same, upgrading teacher promotion schemes to accommodate bilingual skills as an incentive, and strengthening development of and access to digital modules on language learning.

17 This suggestion arose at the consultation held in the Central Province. It was recommended that a measure of this nature would have a dual use. Firstly, the Human Rights Commission of Sri Lanka can address its lacuna of staff members. Secondly, this provides university students engaged in the study of law to enhance their practical skills, thereby making them suitable candidates to be recruited as permanent staff to Human Rights Commission of Sri Lanka and other entities working for the promotion and protection of human rights.

THEMATIC PRIORITY 02:

ADDRESSING THE IMPACT OF DISPLACEMENT EXPERIENCED BY WOMEN

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES:

1. To support the implementation of existing policies.
2. To respond to the continuing requirements of the internally displaced persons/refugee returnees with a gender-sensitive mandate.
3. To enhance and increase gender sensitivity to women’s concerns in disaster management.
4. To strengthen sensitization regarding conflict-affected people with a focus on women.

\(^2\)In the context of this National Action Plan, Conflict-Related Displacement includes refugees, internally displaced persons, and refugee returnees.

\(^3\)The National Policy on Durable Solutions for Conflict-affected Displacement is a well-considered policy that is capable of effectively responding to all issues associated with conflict-related displacement. Hence, the commitments undertaken under the said policy have not been reproduced in this NAP.

Outcome:

Women who have been subject to conflict and disaster related displacement have access to State-sponsored and gender-sensitive psychosocial support services, and sustainable solutions.

Responsible Authority/Official:

- Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment

25 This activity has been added in response to the concerns that were raised by participants who attended the consultations. Some participants noted that there is no mechanism in Sri Lanka to evaluate whether the qualifications that refugees had obtained in India and in other countries are equivalent to Sri Lankan qualifications in standards. This was regarded as impacting the ability of some such refugee returnees to find employment and/or continue their education upon return. Thus, it has been suggested that there should be a standardization of qualification assessment to ascertain where such qualifications rank in comparison to Sri Lankan qualifications.

Outcome:

Women have enhanced access to gender-sensitive and regularized disaster management mechanisms.

Responsible Authority/Official:

- Ministry of Defence
- Disaster Management Centre

27 This can be done by revamping the existing shelters or if they are not available establish new shelters in disaster prone areas, ensuring adequate and accessible sanitary hygiene products and other basic necessities, ensuring safe spaces for women's security and privacy (e.g., breast feeding areas, segregated sanitary facilities, and cost-effective partitioning, etc.).

28 Special attention to be paid to floods, landslides and environmental pollution related displacements. (Pilot work to be undertaken in Ratnapura and Kegalle). Participants also proposed that such facilities should be established subsequent to conducting consultations with women and other stakeholders.

29 Produced by DMC, UNFPA, IOM and UNICEF.

32 Expected to provide information on flood patterns to the responsible authorities to aid in the process of compiling the survey.

33 The Ministry is expected to work in collaboration with the Disaster Management Centre in allocating appropriate state lands for constructing shelters.

- Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment

Consultations showed that military widows are required to submit a statement every three months asserting that their civil status remains unchanged. Delay of submission results in loss of their payments. It was stated by the military widows in attendance that the payments that they are receiving on behalf of their deceased spouse will be stopped if they contract another marital relationship. Some instances were divulged where Grama Niladhari have informed relevant authorities that certain military widows cohabit with partners and such information has resulted in loss of their payments. The resulting discrimination was sought to be addressed through the NAP.

38 Ex-combatants who participated at the consultations stated that they face procedural difficulties when attempting to obtain loans despite them possessing a rehabilitation certificate. This is due to the insistence by the Bank Officials that there should be two guarantors with State employment even though the actual guidelines only require any two guarantors. Thus, it is also deemed necessary to gender sensitize officers of State banks towards the specific challenges faced by ex-combatants.

THEMATIC PRIORITY 04:

WOMEN’S PROTECTION AND SECURITY

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES:

1. To inquire into and address issues of sexual violence, associated displacement, and other related conflict contexts.
2. To educate and raise awareness amongst members of the tri-forces, police, and other authorities on preventing and addressing sexual violence - in relation to both conflict and post-conflict contexts.
3. To increase facilities/allowances provided to elderly women, women with disabilities, and other groups of women identified as more vulnerable and/or marginalised in society.
Focus Area

06

Protection of women and girls against violence, including sexual violence.

Outcome:

- Measures are adopted to prevent violence against women, especially in relation to elderly women, girl children, women with disabilities, and trans persons, and to enhance their socio-economic opportunities and participation in decision-making.

Responsibility Assignment:

- Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment

This includes the following schemes: (1) “Arogya” Medical Assistance Program - Providing financial assistance of Rs. 25,000 each to low-income elders who are suffering from chronic non-communicable diseases; (2) “Suwapahasu” Financial Assistance Scheme - Providing the minimum facilities and sanitary facilities required for the elderly to live in their own homes (up to a maximum of Rs. 0.05 million per beneficiary); (3) “Diriya Piyasa” Housing Project - Renovation and construction of houses for low-income families with elderly persons (Rs. 0.3Mn.); (4) Organising elderly religious tours - Providing financial facilities for elderly tours (Rs. 0.05Mn for each tour).

At present, senior citizens over 70 years old are only issued a monthly allowance of Rs. 2,000 if their monthly income is below Rs. 3,000. Elderly women who have also been impacted by the armed conflict and have had to endure hardships throughout their entire lives noted that the said allowance is inadequate and that they are also incapable of generating income through labour due to their age-related incapacities.

MONITORING AND EVALUATION
The successful achievement of outcomes outlined in the NAP is intrinsically linked with a strong monitoring and evaluation (M&E) mechanism to inform effective implementation and efficient use of resources for planned as well as future WPS work and to ensure accountability and accomplishment of targets set to reach higher level results. In order to facilitate a practical approach to operationalization and implementation, a Monitoring and Evaluation Framework has been introduced under each Commitment to monitor the Outcome level result with contributing activities. The activities detailed under each preceding Commitment are carried out by respective state actors to realize outcomes that represent higher level institutional and behavioural changes as direct results of the said interventions. The long-term intended and unintended effects of the interventions ultimately contribute, through collective efforts of additional state and non-state actors such as civil society and development partners, to higher level changes in the status and conditions of women and girls affected by conflict, socio-economic, cultural, institutional and other factors, which will be verified by mid-term and final evaluations as mentioned below under respective sections.

TARGETS AND INDICATORS

The Monitoring Framework for the NAP was developed within the frame of SDGs and inputs from diverse stakeholders at grassroots consultations. The goals were formulated in accordance with relevant SDGs47, including but not limited to SDG 5: Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls and SGD 16: Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels.

Sri Lanka’s performance in achieving the SDGs and ranking in global indices, i.e. Global Gender Gap Index, are to be assessed at regular intervals during implementation to benchmark progress towards overarching goals. The outcome results under each commitment were matched with specific activities and incorporated into separate frameworks that enumerate the designated lead implementing and cooperating state agencies for respective commitments and contributing activities. This M&E framework also includes indicators to monitor the accomplishment of activities, their means of verification, time frame, monitoring agency, supporting agencies, state and non-state sector actors and the budget.

47 SDG 1 – End poverty in all its forms everywhere
SDG 3 – Ensure healthy lives and promote wellbeing for all at all ages
SDG 4 – Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all
SDG 5 – Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls
SDG 8 – Promote sustained, inclusive and sustainable economic growth, full and productive employment and decent work for all
SDG 9 – Build resilient infrastructure, promote inclusive and sustainable industrialization
SDG 10 – Reduce inequality within and among countries
SDG 16 – Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels
M&E IMPLEMENTATION STRATEGY

The implementation of the NAP on WPS requires joint efforts of multiple state and non-state actors to effectively translate each commitment into concrete results. Given the diverse range of partners and stakeholders involved, two multi-agency and stakeholder coordinating bodies – Inter-Agency Coordination and Assessment Committee and National Core Steering Committee – will be established to oversee and fulfill key M&E responsibilities in parallel with the interventions. Whereas monitoring processes aid the government in assessing whether implementation is being done in accordance with relevant plans, the evaluation processes will support learning and adapting WPS interventions in response to challenges and opportunities on the ground. The participatory M&E approach will foster shared ownership and accountability and leverage existing expertise, particularly that of civil society, to strengthen relevancy and applicability of the NAP in the domains of national, sub-national and international decision-making.

The M&E mechanisms set forth in the following sections were designed to enable substantive involvement of the local government and civil society in operationalizing implementation plans and the M&E frameworks as expressed repeatedly in consultations. The structures and functions set therein will not only facilitate coordination and engagement of all stakeholders, but will also prevent the NAP from being viewed as the sole priority of the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment by highlighting the collective contributions as well as individual roles and responsibilities of all identified stakeholders.

INTER-AGENCY COORDINATION AND ASSESSMENT COMMITTEE

The GoSL – and the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment in particular - remains committed to advancing gender equality and the WPS agenda. The establishment of Inter-Agency Coordination and Assessment Committees comprised of both state and non-state actors are perceived by the government as key mechanisms to instill necessary political will and advocacy for the achievement of NAP objectives. The involvement of non-state actors, i.e. civil society organizations, are expected to contribute to raising awareness and promoting NAP interventions among the Sri Lankan populace.

The Lead Implementing Agency identified for each of the commitments would adopt the initiative of setting up a Coordination and Assessment Committee to carry out respective M&E efforts. The convening government agency is expected to be the actor identified in the NAP as the Lead Implementing Agency. In cases where a specific designation has not been identified, the stated agency would appoint a senior official within their administrative structures as the convening agent representing the Lead Implementing Agency. Such convenor, if not from Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment, is expected to liaise closely with the ministry. It shall be the responsibility of the convening agent to ensure that the Committee is represented by at least one member from each of the state actors and non-state actors identified.

Committee Composition

Each Coordination and Assessment Committee will be comprised of at least five persons with a limit of ten persons. The minimum and maximum membership limits are set herein to ensure that overly large or small coordination bodies would not hamper effective functioning of such bodies.

Membership of the Coordination and Assessment Committee

At minimum, the following personnel should be considered as members:

(i) The convening agent representing the Lead Implementation Agency
(ii) One other member of the Lead Implementation Agency
(iii) At least one representative from each additional state actor identified for the relevant activity of the NAP
(iv) At least one representative from each non-state actor identified for the relevant activity
(v) At least one representative from Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment in cases where the above does not comprise of a representative of the same
(vi) At least one representative from the Department for Project Management and Monitoring
(vii) One expert jointly identified and appointed by other Committee members

The convening agent and the Committee Chairperson, where possible, are expected to continue their terms until the expiration of this NAP in 2027. The other members are expected to continue their membership for at least two years. Each entity is responsible for nominating another agent to replace their representative who removes themself from the Committee.

Timeline, Quorum and Representation

The Coordination and Assessment Committees will meet quarterly and the quorum for decision-making shall be 75 percent of all members represented therein with no less than 50 percent of female members being present. Committees shall be comprised of at least 70 percent women. The Chairperson shall be chosen amongst the members with preferences given to female members. The convening agent should, however, continue to be the member representing the Lead Implementing Agency.
Committee Core Functions Monitoring

(i) Establish a data management system for the NAP WPS
(ii) Maintain and update indicator baselines and targets under each commitment – This is considered a primary task as there is a lacuna of baseline data at present
(iii) Conduct regular progress reviews and submit bi-annual monitoring reports to the Lead Implementing Agency, Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment and identified data sources and monitoring agencies at the output and outcome levels – Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment is expected to maintain a central online and offline database to ensure that the public has access to these details in accordance with the Right to Information Act No. 12 of 2016 of Sri Lanka
(iv) Oversee coordination and communication of findings within and across Committees and among external stakeholders to inform and support evidence-based decision-making on WPS and other relevant efforts

Evaluation

(i) Initiate and manage mid-term review after 3 years of implementation of the NAP on WPS and final evaluations after the full implementation period of the NAP WPS in collaboration with broader networks of CSOs and other stakeholders to systematically assess the implementation of the NAP and to produce credible findings;
(ii) Adopt measures to compile a comprehensive evaluation report at the end of the term of application of the NAP on WPS. The report should include in-depth, rigorous analysis of data and evidence provided by the respective Committees.
(iii) Compile a lessons learnt report inclusive of key areas highlighted in the mid-term and final evaluation reports and set benchmarks and recommendations to ensure that these are addressed in the next iteration of the NAP on WPS.

The Committees should be jointly responsible for identifying and implementing strategies to address gaps in the capacities of relevant authorities for effective implementation of the M&E mechanisms, ensure coherence with reporting of SDGs and streamline gender sensitivity and inclusivity in the M&E efforts through collection disaggregated data under each commitment.
CORE STEERING COMMITTEE

The function of the Core Steering Committee formed by members from each of the Coordination and Assessment Committee, is to consolidate and coordinate all M&E efforts and to ensure quality and accountability of such efforts. The membership of the Core Steering Committee is as follows:

(i) Secretary of the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment (expected to function as the Chairperson of the Core Steering Committee)
(ii) Secretary of the Ministry of Justice
(iii) Secretary, Ministry of Finance
(iv) Secretary, Ministry of Foreign Affairs
(v) Secretary, Ministry of Defence
(vi) Chairperson - National Committee on Women
(vii) Director Women’s Bureau of Sri Lanka
(viii) Director – Children’s Secretariat
(ix) Director General, Department of Census and Statistics
(x) Representative from Police Children and Women Bureau
(xi) Five experts on women’s rights
(xii) Seven representatives chosen from among CSOs

The Core Steering Committee is expected to constitute a total of twenty to twenty five members. The Committee is to meet once every four months and the detailed minutes/reports/resolutions and/or any such documents that are produced as outcomes of the triannual meetings are to be maintained by the Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment and forwarded to other entities that are expected to act in accordance with those decisions. The triannual meetings should be attended by at least 12 members of the Committee inclusive of the five secretaries of listed ministries to be considered valid. The Committee is expected to review all reports/documents submitted by Coordination and Assessment Committees and adopt necessary decisions concerning the same. As the focal point of the Committee, the Secretary of Ministry of Women, Child Affairs and Social Empowerment will be responsible for communicating the decisions of the Steering Committee to the Coordination and Assessment Committees for necessary action. The Steering Committee shall be responsible for liaising with upper-level decision makers of the state, including but not limited to the Cabinet of Ministers and making policy recommendations to relevant authorities on matters related to Women, Peace and Security.
CHALLENGES TO THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NATIONAL ACTION PLAN ON WOMEN, PEACE AND SECURITY
At the stage of completing the NAP on WPS – eight core challenges that may pose threats to the implementation of the NAP have been identified. They are as follows:

1. Availability of funds and resources: while all attempts have been made to ensure that the responsibility of ensuring the satisfactory implementation of stated commitments are undertaken by authorities who are already vested with carrying out similar tasks under their existing job descriptions, many of the commitments require a significant amount of State funding. Due to the difficulties faced by the GoSL in relation to having sufficient funding, it is expected that the international community will aid Sri Lanka’s very first attempt at implementing a NAP on WPS.

2. Commitment of relevant stakeholders: the responsible State authorities have been identified in this NAP as a means of ensuring that a stated individual currently holding a particular designation is required under the NAP to bear the accountability for ensuring the implementation of the commitment. The success of this is however dependent on the coordination and collaboration between the responsible authority/authorities and other State actors as well as the non-State actors.

3. Difficulty of coordinating with multiple stakeholders: some challenges and difficulties are expected when coordinating with multiple stakeholders for the implementation of different commitments. Furthermore, it is understood that some stakeholders including some officials mentioned as responsible authorities, the other State actors, as well as some of the non-State actors have been vested with multiple tasks which may also run parallel to one another. This may cause some challenges pertaining to time commitments.

4. Human resource development: some of the commitments can only be successfully implemented if there is human resource development through different types of trainings/seminars etc. For fulfilment of such commitments, the GoSL will require support and commitment from experts in various fields.

5. Lack of human resources: the successful implementation of some of the stated commitments are dependent on new recruitments or the provision of trainings to existing officials. These acts are heavily dependent on the availability of human resources. Some challenges are to be foreseen in relation to the availability of human resources.
6. Reluctance and push back from certain communities: especially when attempts are made by the GoSL to alter some discriminatory laws or gender stereotypical practices that threaten women’s peace and security, there has been constant resistance from certain communities. These challenges are to be foreseen. However, the GoSL seeks to ensure that equality for women is granted in accordance with Sri Lanka’s Constitution as well as international obligations undertaken under the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant on Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights, and the CEDAW.

7. Continued impact of the Global Pandemic: the continuation of the Global Pandemic Sars-Cov2 or COVID-19 may hinder the implementation of the activities listed under the NAP in a timely manner. In such a context, it is expected that the Lead Implementing Agencies would adjust the time frames in a reasonably discretionary manner to accommodate the achievement of the goals in a “new normal” context.

8. Timely implementation: the timelines that have been stated in the NAP on WPS are imagined within the framework of five years from 2023 – 2027. Some of the commitments are short term commitments while the others have a longer stipulated time duration. Yet another set of commitments are imagined as commitments to be undertaken by the State to continue even after the lapse of the five-year period of the NAP on WPS.

Despite the foreseen challenges the GoSL seeks to ensure that the commitments stated in this NAP on WPS are implemented to the fullest possible capacity to ensure that women in Sri Lanka are involved in conflict prevention, conflict resolution, peacebuilding, decision-making and politics at all levels of the society. The core principle underlying the National Action Plan is premised on a just, free, equal, and equitable society for women of Sri Lanka.
